

Final Exam Revised

During this exam period, examine your websites and notes and draw some conclusions that will help to write an essay on this question:

What important role do fairy tales and folk literature play in society?

Consider different time periods, areas of the world and types of audience and use the response work you have done all semester to answer the question.

The essay should be in three parts:

1. Introduction, with a clear thesis statement that answers the question.
2. Body, with several paragraphs that explain your reasoning and support your statements.
3. Conclusion, where you reiterate your thesis.

A successful essay will include many examples of tales. You may use the Internet to conduct research in the first hour as you prepare to write the essay.